

An Bradán Feasa – Caibidil 18

Long ago, there was a man. His name was Finnegas. There was a boy living with him.

Fionn Mac Cumhaill was the boy's name. Finnegas really liked fishing. There was a special salmon in the river near them. It was The Salmon of Knowledge. The fish was full of wisdom. Finnegas was very interested in The Salmon of Knowledge.

One day, Finnegas caught the fish. He was really happy. He gave the salmon to Fionn. "Put this fish over the fire" Finnegas said to him. Out went Finnegas to the woods.

After a while, the dinner was ready. Fionn put his thumb on the fish. It was very hot. He burned his thumb. He put his thumb into his mouth. Now Fionn had all the wisdom!

With that, Finnegas came back. He saw what had happened. He was not angry. "You have all the wisdom now, boy" said Finnegas.

Lch.151 F

Ag treenail = training

Go dtí mo cheacht ceoil = to my music lesson

Ag snámh = swimming

Go dtí an leabharlann = to the library

Ag scatáil = skating

Cá bhfuil tú ag dul?....Where are you going?

Lch.152 G

Sa = in sa ghairdín = in the garden ("sa" usually gives the next word a séimhiú)

If the word after "sa" begins with a vowel, instead of a séimhiú the next word gets the letter n in front of it, this makes it easier to say.

So.....san uisce. The word "uisce" begins with a vowel, so instead of a séimhiú you add an n in front of uisce
